

CONTENTS

CHAPTER	PAGE
LIST OF PLANS	xi
I. INTRODUCTION	I
II. PEACE TO WAR	13
III. ATLANTIC OCEAN AND NARROW SEAS, SEPTEMBER 3, 1939—APRIL 8, 1940	26
Fleet takes up war stations—Expeditionary Force landed in France—German submarine offensive opens—First brush with German capital ships—Battle of River Plate—German air and mine-laying offensive in narrow seas
IV. FRUITLESS ATTEMPTS TO HALT GERMAN ADVANCE IN EUROPE, APRIL 9, 1940—JUNE 20, 1940	39
Germany invades Denmark and Norway—Conjunct operations to land and evacuate British troops in Norway—First and Second Battles of Narvik—Germany invades Holland, Belgium and France—Conjunct operations to land and evacuate British troops—Dunkirk—France capitulates—Italy declares war—The British Empire fights on alone
V. THE WAR SPREADS TO THE MEDITERRANEAN, JUNE 21, 1940—DECEMBER 31, 1940	54
Anti-invasion measures—The Battle of Britain—Measures to prevent the French Fleet falling into German hands—Mediterranean Fleet takes the offensive—Admiral Cunningham's action off Calabria—Italy invades Greece—Fleet Air Arm attack at Taranto—Admiral Somerville's action off Cape Spartivento—Conjunct operations with the Army of the Nile and the British Army in East Africa—Germany presses the submarine offensive, causing heavy losses, and reinforces the offensive with powerful surface units
VI. GERMAN AIR AND LAND FORCES THREATEN OUR POSITION IN THE MEDITERRANEAN, AND THE THREAT TO OUR TRADE-ROUTES INCREASES, JANUARY 1941—FEBRUARY 1941	82
German air forces reinforce Italians in Mediterranean—First Malta convoy battle—Admiral Somerville bombards Genoa—Conjunct operations with Army of the Nile and British Army in East Africa—Germany continues to press the submarine offensive, supported by capital ships—German aircraft augment the mine-laying offensive in the narrow seas

VII. BATTLE RAGES CONTINUOUSLY IN THE MEDITERRANEAN WITH HEAVY LOSSES, AS THE THREAT TO OUR TRADE-ROUTES INCREASES,

MARCH 1941-JUNE 1941

89

Admiral Cunningham's night victory off Matapan—Mediterranean Fleet carries a British Army to Greece—Germany invades Greece—Evacuation of British Army from Greece—Germany attacks Crete—The Battle of Crete—Fleet incurs severe losses—Conjunct operations with the Army of the Nile and British Armies in East Africa—Germany still further augments the submarine offensive, but an attempt to reinforce the offensive with the Bismarck and Prinz Eugen fails when the British Fleet sink the Bismarck—German aircraft make heavy attacks on South Coast bases

VIII. THE WAR SPREADS TO THE PACIFIC AND THE BRITISH NAVIES REACH THE CRISIS IN THEIR FORTUNES, JULY 1941-DECEMBER 1941

114

Germany attacks Russia—First Russian convoy sails—Mediterranean Fleet, weakened by losses in Battle of Crete and from midget submarines, fights defensive battles to succour Malta and sustains attack on enemy shipping with light forces—Conjunct operations with Army of the Nile and British Army in Syria—Germany continues to press the submarine offensive—Japan declares war—Prince of Wales and Repulse sunk near Singapore

IX. BRITISH NAVIES ON THE DEFENSIVE IN ALL SEAS, JANUARY 1942-JUNE 1942

128

Mediterranean Fleet continues to fight through supplies to Malta and to support the Army of the Nile—Germany presses the submarine offensive in American waters and causes the Allies heavy losses—The Scharnhorst and Gneisenau reach Germany through the English Channel—The attack on St. Nazaire—Home Fleet fights through convoys to Russia—Situation in Far East deteriorates—An Allied force is annihilated in the Battle of the Java Sea—Japanese press their offensive into the Bay of Bengal—Ceylon is attacked and the Cornwall, Devonshire and Hermes sunk—Admiral Syfret captures the French base in Madagascar

X. THE ALLIES EXPLOIT SEA-POWER AND TAKE THE OFFENSIVE IN NORTH AFRICA, THOUGH THE TRADE-ROUTE DEFENCE FORCES ARE STILL HARD PRESSED, JULY 1942-DECEMBER 1942

155

First assault on the Continent at Dieppe—Mediterranean Fleet continues to fight convoys through to Malta and support British Army based in Egypt—A large Allied Army lands at Algiers, Oran and Casablanca—German submarines cause heavy losses—Home Fleet continues to fight through convoys to Russia—Captain Sherbrooke's action in defence of a Russian convoy—American Navy assumes the offensive in the Pacific with the capture of Guadalcanal in the Solomon Islands

- XI. THE ALLIES PRESS THE OFFENSIVE IN NORTH AFRICA AND THE CRISIS IN THE BATTLE OF THE ATLANTIC IS REACHED AND PASSED, JANUARY 1943-JUNE 1943 168
- Mediterranean Fleet continues to support the Armies in Africa—The Battle of the Atlantic moves to its crisis—Defensive measures begin to stem the submarine offensive—Shipping losses fall as the defensive measures gain strength
- XII. THE ALLIES PRESS THE OFFENSIVE INTO ITALY AND THE TRADE-ROUTE DEFENCE FORCES AUGMENT THEIR OFFENSIVE AGAINST THE SUBMARINES, JULY 1943-DECEMBER 1943 177
- Allied Army lands in Sicily and captures the island—Allied Army lands in Italy—Italian Fleet surrenders—Offensive against enemy submarines progresses—The Home Fleet continues to fight through convoys to Russia and sinks the Scharnhorst attempting to attack a convoy
- XIII. THE ALLIES AGAIN EXPLOIT SEA-POWER AND TAKE THE OFFENSIVE IN NORMANDY WHICH CULMINATES IN THE SURRENDER OF GERMANY, AND THE BRITISH FLEET TURNS TO THE OFFENSIVE IN THE FAR EAST, JANUARY 1944-MAY 7, 1945 189
- The greatest amphibious operation in history secures a footing in Northern France—Allies land a large army in the South of France—The British navies continue to support the Allied Armies on the Continent—Marine commandos attack at Walcheren—Antwerp becomes a main supply port—The British Fleet attacks Japanese bases—The final phase in the West
- XIV. THE UNITED STATES, BRITISH AND AUSTRALIAN FORCES CONTINUE TO PRESS THE OFFENSIVE AGAINST JAPAN, AND A POWERFUL BRITISH FLEET SAILS WITH THE AMERICAN FLEET FOR THE FINAL ASSAULT WHICH CULMINATES IN THE SURRENDER OF JAPAN, JANUARY 1, 1945-SEPTEMBER 2, 1945 204
- Review of Japanese War up to January 1, 1945—The ring steadily closes—A powerful British fleet assembles in the Pacific—American forces capture Okinawa—Air attack by British and American forces on Japan increases in volume and culminates in the dropping of two atomic bombs—Japan surrenders

CHAPTER	PAGE
XV. REVIEW OF THE MARITIME OPERATIONS AND THEIR INFLUENCE ON THE FUTURE OF SEA- POWER	220
Reasons for the success of the German submarine campaign— The events that led to the crisis in our fortunes at the end of 1942—British Fleet and squadron-commanders—Tactics—The influence of science and of the new weapons on maritime war.
APPENDIX A. STRENGTH OF THE PRINCIPLE NAVIES IN SEPTEMBER 1939	239
APPENDIX B. SHIPS BUILT IN BRITISH EMPIRE AND SHIPS LOST DURING THE WAR	240
APPENDIX C. PERSONNEL OF THE BRITISH NAVIES IN 1939 AND 1944	241
APPENDIX D. BRITISH PACIFIC AND EAST INDIES FLEETS ON VJ-DAY, AUGUST 15, 1945	241
INDEX	247