

Contents

Preface: four periods of modern Chinese naval development	ix
Introduction: China's modern navy in historical perspective: the importance of coastal defense strategies	1
PART I
The origins of the "modern" navy under the Qing dynasty	19
1 The first Opium War and Chinese naval modernization	21
2 The Chinese navy in the second Opium War, in Okinawa, and in Annam	46
3 China's navy and the Sino-Japanese War of 1894–1895	63
PART II
The Chinese navy's incomplete modernization and Westernization	79
4 The "New Army" reforms and the Chinese navy's impact on the Xinhai Revolution	81
5 The Nationalist navy from 1922 through 1938	97
6 The post-World War II Nationalist navy through the Chinese Civil War	114
PART III
The founding of the People's Republic of China and the early history of the PLAN	131
7 The Chongqing Mutiny and the creation of the PLAN	133

8	PLAN's coastal defense and the Nationalist navy's use of the offshore islands to blockade China	146
9	The Sino-Soviet alliance, the growth of the PLAN, and the Sino-Soviet split	166
PART IV
	The Nationalist navy and China's PLAN as an emerging regional navy	187
10	Sino-Soviet conflict and the PRC decision to open relations with the United States	189
11	Modernization, Westernization, and geographic responsibilities of the PLAN	208
12	China's historical and regional constraints and the future of the PLAN	226
	Conclusions: two Chinas in an era of competing coastal defense and maritime strategies	249
	Bibliography	262
	Timeline of South China Sea dispute	269
	Index	280