

Table of Contents

Acknowledgements	xi
Preface	xiii
Chapter 1: Introduction	1
Chapter 2: The Language of Information Age Warfare	9
Chapter 3: Information in Warfare	35
Chapter 4: Fundamentals of Information Superiority and Network Centric Warfare	53
Chapter 5: Information Domain	95
Chapter 6: Cognitive Domain	119
Chapter 7: Command and Control	131
Chapter 8: What Is Collaboration?	185
Chapter 9: Synchronization	205
Chapter 10: Growing Body of Evidence	239
Chapter 11: Assessment and the Way Ahead	285
Bibliography	301
About the Authors	309

List of Figures

Figure 1. From Theory to Practice	6
Figure 2. The Domains	11
Figure 3. Domain Relationships: Sensing	15
Figure 4. Domain Relationships: Information	16
Figure 5. Domain Relationships: Knowledge	17
Figure 6. Domain Relationships: Awareness	19
Figure 7. Domain Relationships: Understanding	20
Figure 8. Domain Relationships: Decision	21
Figure 9. Domain Relationships: Action	22
Figure 10. Example: Entity OODA Loop	23
Figure 11. Domain Relationships: Information Sharing	24
Figure 12. Domain Relationships: Shared Knowledge	26

Figure 13. Domain Relationships: Shared Awareness	27
Figure 14. Domain Relationships: Collaboration	28
Figure 15. Domain Relationships: Synchronization	29
Figure 16. Hierarchy of Measures	32
Figure 17. Information War: Value of Knowledge	35
Figure 18. Carl von Clausewitz	36
Figure 19. Impact of Fog and Friction on Effectiveness	38
Figure 20. Advances in the Information Capabilities	40
Figure 21. The Information Domain	47
Figure 22. Richness, Reach, and Quality of Interaction	48
Figure 23. Value Creation	61
Figure 24. Network Attributes.....	63
Figure 25. Network Comparison	64
Figure 26. Commercial Example.....	65
Figure 27. Comparing Business Models	66

Figure 28. Military Value Chain	67
Figure 29. Comparing Warfighting Models	69
Figure 30. Networking the Force	69
Figure 31. Networking the Force (con.).....	70
Figure 32. Platform vs. Network-Centric Awareness	71
Figure 33. New Mental Model	72
Figure 34. Domain Interactions	73
Figure 35. Information Elements	73
Figure 36. Cognitive Elements	74
Figure 37. Physical Elements	75
Figure 38. Network Centric Warfare Value Chain	76
Figure 39. Value Chain Links of Information Superiority and Network Centric Warfare	77
Figure 40. Linkage Models and Indicants of Information Value.....	80
Figure 41. Determination of System's Utility	92
Figure 42. Information Domain: Attributes of Information Richness	96

Figure 43. Information Domain: Attributes of Information Reach	99
Figure 44. Information Domain: Quality of Interaction	101
Figure 45. Information Domain: Key Relationships	104
Figure 46. Relative Information Advantage	108
Figure 47. Impact of Information Operations	110
Figure 48. Information Needs	111
Figure 49. Information Domain: Measuring an Information Advantage	116
Figure 50. Reference Model: Conceptual Framework	120
Figure 51. Reference Model: The Situation	121
Figure 52. Battlespace Awareness	122
Figure 53. Reference Model: Components of Situational Awareness	124
Figure 54. Shared Awareness.....	126
Figure 55. Achieving Shared Awareness	127

Figure 56. Traditional View of C2: OODA Loop	132
Figure 57. Joint Hierarchical and Cyclical Operational Activity Model	135
Figure 58. Traditional C4ISR Process	137
Figure 59. C4ISR Process Today	146
Figure 60. Greater Integration	149
Figure 61. Greater Integration and Implied Decision Types	153
Figure 62. Overall Anticipated Integration	158
Figure 63. Structure, Function, Capacity, and Their Impacts	164
Figure 64. Historical Choices Among C2 System Philosophy	170
Figure 65. Capacity Requirements for Different Command Arrangements.....	176
Figure 66. Spectrum of C2 Organization Options	181
Figure 67. Information Age C2 Organizations	183
Figure 68. How Does Networking Enable Synchronization?	216

Figure 69. What Is the Role of Planning in Synchronization?	221
Figure 70. What Type of C2 Concept Is Appropriate for a Given Mission?	224
Figure 71. Illustrative Attributes for Key Information Superiority Concepts Related to Hypotheses Regarding Synchronization	229
Figure 72. Synchronization Value	232
Figure 73. Synchronization Profiles ...	234
Figure 74. Growing Body of Evidence	235
Figure 75. Assessment of the Emerging Evidence	240
Figure 76. Network Centric Maturity Model	241
Figure 77. Air-to-Air: Improved Information Position	245
Figure 78. Coupled OODA Loops: Voice Only	246
Figure 79. Air-to-Air: Tactical Situation: 4 vs. 4	247
Figure 80. Voice vs. Voice Plus Data Links	248

Figure 81. Coupled OODA Loops: Voice Plus Data	249
Figure 82. Air-to-Air: Relative Information Advantage.....	250
Figure 83. Air-to-Air	254
Figure 84. Maneuver.....	271
Figure 85. Theater Air and Missile Defense Process	275
Figure 86. Impact of Network Centric TAMD	276
Figure 87. Strike: Networking the Kill Chain	278
Figure 88. Strike: Improved Information Position	279
Figure 89. Split-Based Operations.....	280