In addition, it was suggested that a comprehensive set of short model courses in various fields of scientific training would supplement the instruction provided by training academies and allow scientists and technical specialists already employed in maritime administrations ports and shipping companies to upgrade their knowledge and skills in certain specialized fields. IMO has therefore developed the current series of model courses in maritime security in response to these generally identified needs and with the generous assistance of the United States and India.

These model courses may be used by any training institution and the Organization is prepared to assist developing countries in implementing any course when the requisite funding is available.
